

I am strongly opposed changing or weakening the Indiana Telephone Privacy law. I know not everyone signs up. Those of us who do, did so for a reason!

Our household has four kids who all run to answer the phone. I am afraid that one of them is going to mistakenly give out info, or agree to something they shouldn't -or don't have the right to. I'm doing my best to teach them the proper way to use the phone. Unfortunately only the 10 year old has it down (I think anyway..I guess she could still be tricked). The 6, 5 and 3 year old still don't. Just the other day we were on our way out the door, the phone rang, I said "Don't answer the phone!" ... The 6 year old ran right past me and answered it. So no matter how much I'm there, trying to monitor things, and even standing over them; I can't guarantee the result.

So please, help make this and many other mom's life a bit easier. Don't change Indiana's Telephone Privacy law.
Thank you.
